Dota Betting 2 things

In parallel, other Dota 2 betting direction is developing: betting with things - skins, in-game items and currency. Some offices are ready to provide such services, but so far there are relatively few of them.

Dota 2: Betting strategies and tips

Dota 2 is a very unpredictable and situational discipline. It is very difficult to make pre-match bets on it, except for the outcome of the skating rink, when you know the performing teams perfectly well. A good betting strategy for Dota 2 is based on the statistics of teams or even game characters, which can be found on websites.

But the best choices can be made already during the game, in live. The draft of the teams is very important – the heroes they choose for a certain map, as well as bans – blocked peaks for the opponent. A well-chosen team can help drag the rink to a technically weaker team. And an experienced drafter with a high degree of confidence will be able to predict the winner and the approximate course of the rink.

The additional Dota Plus service created by the same Valve that developed the game is very useful. It shows the probability of winning teams in live, right during the broadcast on Dota TV. The data appears immediately after the draft.

In general, betting on Dota 2 is recommended primarily to experienced gamers who have rolled back hundreds of hours in this game. A player with experience will easily join the rink in the course of the action, correctly assess the chances of teams by positions, the difference in experience and gold, lineups and other factors. Also, personal experience of the game will help determine intentional "plums– - match-fixing in Dota 2 is not uncommon.

Beginners in the game can try simple Dota 2 strategies, for example, "even / odd frags” or "first blood". In fact, these are equally probable markets and, if you hook a good coefficient, you can rise in this way, simultaneously entertaining yourself by watching the stream and delving into the game. By the way, according to statistics, odd frags occur in professional matches more often - in 53% of cases. And according to the "first blood", each team has personal statistics.
