Excavator damage to tree branches [Murray Civil]

Posted by Dane Pickering - 11 Feb 2012 19:51

Cnr Goorama Ave & Pacific Hwy, San Remo

The following images will depict the site setup and managed by Murray Civil at the above location.

2 of the images depict branches snapped and broken by the excavator in the images. It is obviously too time consuming to have a professional come along and perform and pruning required and instead the operator has undertaken their own pruning with a few pushes and pulls on a lever.

Another of the images shows grass that has been laid in a stormwater drain that is rotting and dead with the exception of the edges - typical of grass which has sat in rolls for a lengthy period before being laid. The grass has passed its used by date. Get another roll in and do the job properly.

I have sent an email to a representative from the company whom i spoke to yesterday outlining my concerns. Indication was the company takes their environmental responsibility seriously. I have asked for an explanation and response as to what will be dont to rectify the damage and when.

Lets see if it is fixed.

I will post any response i receive and whether or not the work is rectified.
